The Cover

University of Wisconsin Medical Center, by Artist in Residence Aaron Bohrod (1968). Done in trompe l'oeil style—which the artist describes as “hard-boiled still lifes”—the painting portrays subjects related to the health sciences at Wisconsin.

Included are (top to bottom) University Hospitals, Science Hall (original home of the Medical School), a Leeuwenhoek microscope, the wall design of the McArdle Laboratory for Cancer Research, and the Middleton Health Sciences Library. Original in the library.
